

Parents and Carers Guide

Warro goes on an adventure

Join Warro the bear as she journeys through a magical world where personal data fills the landscape.

Her wanderings bring to life our data-hungry world and readers can learn about the risks of over-sharing data and the rewards of treating personal information carefully and respectfully. The book aims to encourage children to think about what data they produce and where they share it.

Children are more likely to engage with and remember the messages in the story if they can interact with it so please encourage your child to colour in, write on, and add to the pages of the book.

Warro is part of Project Bijou Seeds, the ODPa's outreach programme for children and young people.
